Support & advice for children

For the next year Have a Heart will be supporting ChildLine, the free phone and online service offering support & advice for any child who has nowhere else to turn.

A staggering 700,000 bullied, abused and worried children will call ChildLine by the end of 2012, and without your help they can't be on the phone and online for them.

Dealing with any issue that is important to the child, ChildLine is there 24/7 365 days a year.

Children can talk to ChildLine whenever they want, however they want. A simple call, text or email can be the start of a whole new life. Many feel lost, alone and helpless before the help of ChildLine, like this child who called: "I feel better, just having talked to you. I don't feel so alone now. Thank you for listening to me... you helped me work out what I had to do."

It costs £4 to answer every ChildLine call, and thanks to your support ChildLine can be there for even more children for many years to come.

Money raised by Have a Heart during the next year will be used to recruit, train and support more ChildLine volunteers to answer more calls.
